

Tying a Bow-Tie

① Start with the left end $1\frac{1}{2}$ " (4 cm) longer than the right end. Slip the short end under the long end.

② Choose how loose you want the tie to be. The button is a reference point. Finish crossing the long end over the short end.

③ Slip the long end under the short end, while holding the tie at the button to keep it loose.

④ Zig-zag the end on your chest. One fold is in the wide part of the tie.

⑤ Zig-zag in progress. Finish the zig-zag.

⑥ Fold the long flap over the front of the tie.

⑦ Pinch the front of the tie in half.

⑧ Swing the long flap to the right.

⑫ Grip all 3 layers on the right, and pull the left bow through the hole.

⑨ Push the pinched corner through the hole.

⑬ Flatten the left half of the front.

⑩ Flatten the right half of the front.

⑭ Straighten the tie.

⑪ Slip a finger into the left bow. Even up the 3 layers on the right half, while pulling the left bow through the hole.

⑮ Tuck the shirt points between tie's thin strip and the bow tie.

⑯ Done!
To untie, pull the single ends.
